History:

Personal Profile - Jean & Murielle Leroux

After many years of working on construction, factories and driving dump trucks, my wife and I had the opportunity to become self - employed. We purchased a coffee truck route in Tweed, Ontario in 1978 and that was the start of the business know as Duffer's Chip Wagon today.

The business grew from that point with the addition of a chip wagon in 1981, in what was middle of the early 80's recession. At this point the business was under recessionary pressures and the purchase of the chip wagon was the turning point in our business. The remaining fleet was fabricated from scratch with the help of my two sons on the last three trucks. Now with the stable business base, I believe that we are continuously growing and expanding to meet our long term goals with a great team to get us there.

Personal Profile – Marc Leroux

After graduating in 1997 from Nicholson Catholic College with many courses in Business and Marketing, I attended Algonquin College for one year in Small Business Management. The following year I transferred to Loyalist College to help out in the expansion of the family business and majored in Business Administration earning a diploma. Upon graduation I bought into the family business and together we continue to grow.
